DOODLE ART

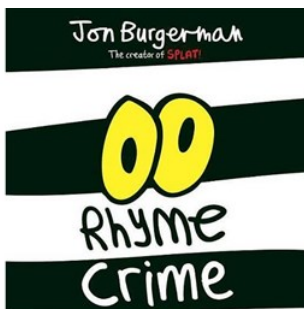

Did you know that you have been a Doodle Artist since you were a toddler? In fact, you probably don't even remember the very first time you began to doodle but your Mom or Dad will. They may have called it scribbling when you were 2 but it really was simple doodling. Those first months of doodling is how the muscles in your fingers get strong enough to begin drawing lines and, later, your name.

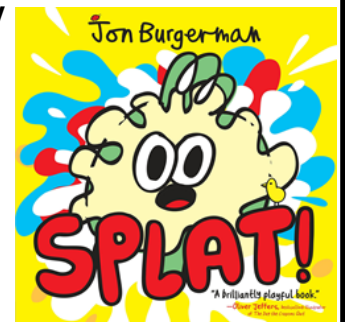

DOODLE ARTIST JOHN BURGERMAN

John Burgerman has been doodling since childhood. He would doodle on a dirty car windshield or in the margin of his tests while at school. Today, as an artist working out of his studio in Brooklyn, New York, he makes a living out of doodling.

Some of his notable works include his dancing noodles mural in the Chinatown area of New York and scribble-filled sneakers he designs for Puma!

Jon Burgerman is a leading artist in many children's books including Splat! He is also the artist and author of Rhyme Crime. He even owns Burgerman's Doodle School with the emphasis of creativity and enjoyment.

So, enjoy your doodle time! You never know what possibilities are out there for you!
